Cut my wrists and pull away

Wake me up in time to hear you say

I can't say it is no more

Don't go please stay

I'll beg for one last day

There's so much more I have to learn from you

I swear I'll miss you when you're gone

We all fall down

But you refuse to get back on your feet again

You closed your eyes

And said goodbye to all of those who loved you

And as you tried to break this strength

What happens never seems to have an end

You couldn't stay no more

And as you took your final breath

Would your dreams come forth or have an end

Did you fade away?

There's so much more I have to learn from you

The past will miss you now you're gone

We all fall down

But you refuse to get back on your feet again

You closed your eyes

And said goodbye to all of those who loved you
