Broken down, this place seems to have no face
There's no one moving forward
Now they're just drowning in it all

Walking around in circles with a never changing view
As hopeless as this seems
There's a reason for everything, I know

Hey, trust me, I know
Hey, I've been in the same places
And seen the same faces that come and go
You're left wondering now
Can you resist somehow?

But you've fallen behind again
Not knowing where you've been
Just where did you begin?

And again your faces blank like they've always been Ignoring everything that matters just following behind

Always pointing fingers now
No, you're never the one to blame
Now I know you don't wanna feel
Responsible for all that is real, I know

Yeah, trust me, I know
I've been in the same places
And seen the same faces that come and go
Can you resist somehow?

But you've fallen behind again
Not knowing where you've been
Just where did you begin?

I know I've been in the same places
And seen the same faces that come and go
Can you resist somehow?

I know that you're just trapped in mind

With these simple minds
I know that you're just wasting time
With this simple life

You're falling behind again
You're falling behind again
Don't fall behind again
Trust me, I know
