Well you can take all of the money
That you made and put it in a jar
Drag out a map that will show you
Is heaven very far

You take all the medicine you need
Till you find out who you are
Maybe you can't figure
Why that woman wants to be so cruel
But you just can't forget her
Can you fool

Well those winter nights
And the city lights
And the crying of the train
Every day is a shade of gray
Every memory of pain

And then you finally
Use the sense God gave you
To come out of the rain
Still you can't figure
Why that man has got to be so cruel
But you just can't forget him
Can you fool

Oh love is long and love is hard
And love brings lots of pain
She was here now she's gone
Lord bring her back again

Well you can take all of the money
That you made and put it in a jar
Drag out a map that will show you
Is heaven very far

And you take all
The medicine you need
Till you find out who you are
Still you can't figure why
That man's gotta be so cruel

But you just can't forget her
Can you fool

Oh, oh can you fool
