Lost, confused, unseen and used
Dangerously fighting for nothing to lose
My progress is calling, it's noticed I'm falling
It's time for a change, It's time for a move,
And I know that it's frightening but it's also exciting
I'm taking a risk that I know is worth fighting
It's better
To make your mistakes than to live with out knowing
It's better to fall on your face then to stay on your feet
As long long long as you tried your best
Sometimes it's hard to think my time here is ending
It troubles me to think about who I've offended
But I can't live my life
In the interest of those,
Holding me back when I'm stood on my toes
But too many times I've been risking my life
Making decisions whilst trying to be nice it's Better to make your mistakes than to live without knowing it's
Better to fall on your face than to stay on your feet
As long long long, as long long long
As long long long ohh
It's better to mistakes than to live with out knowing
It's better to fall on your face then to stay on your feet
It's better to mistakes than to live with out knowing
It's better to fall on your face then to stay on your feet
As long long long...
