Maybe more than ever now
My mind keeps drifting back in time
Again I find myself dreaming
About the way things might have been

These days have gone oh so fast
And I can't believe my heart will ever last
The whole lifetime without, baby here without you

Leaning back and laughing such an easy thing to sell
Going through the motions what a show
Suddenly this feeling has grabbed me by my heart
It won't let go, I need you so

Still torn between your cheating heart
There's a damn good chance you'll tear mind all apart
But I spend my life full of wonder
About the way things might have been

So wrap me up, take me home
Tell me one more time that I ain't doing no wrong
Oh tell me baby, tell me
This is the way things should have been

Leaning back and laughing such an easy thing to sell
Going through the motions what a show
Suddenly this feeling has grabbed me by my heart
And it won't let go, I need you so
