Everytime I see you baby you look so down and out Tell me won't you tell me what you so worried about Time after time those young boys broke your heart in two
You ain't sure if you wanna play but you can't stand to lose

Who could ever blame you just looking out for your own heart
But if you ever change your mind baby
You won't have to look to find me there
Baby I'm yours for the asking
Yours for the asking

Each night I lay my head down hoping it won't take long
But you know just how I feel you come on wrong
All it takes to make me smile is taking me by the hand
Well let the good times roll baby over and over again

Who could ever blame you just looking out for your own
heart
But if you ever change your mind baby
You won't have to look to find me there
Baby I'm yours for the asking
Yours for the asking

Who could ever blame you just looking out for your own
heart
But if you ever change your mind baby
You won't have to look to find me there
Baby I'm yours for the asking
Yours for the asking

Well baby I'm yours, my baby
