"Memory and Honesty"

I had a dream, it was lasting
It lasted the whole next day
I dreamt you had left me
And when I woke the mirror said to me
"Maybe it's true, it could be true"

You were caring, you had honest eyes
You were perfect, the perfect surprise
'Til your hands crept up my chest
And gave a stronghold on my neck
You said "Baby, it's true, I'm leaving you"

I had a dream, it was lasting
It lasted the whole next day
I dreamt you had left me
And when I woke the mirror said to me
"Maybe it's true, it could be true."
