purity is a lovely lady a yellow daisy in a beautiful dress a little shy and a little lonely and full of vengeance that will never digress but no one can ever ever tell how she's miserable as hell how you lay there vacant and color-blind madeline, madeline never was so jaded a concubine

madeline, madeline

just say the word and she'll be your woman anything son that you've ever desired but it's only false love, it's only false love it will infatuate
