I'm struggling along the road,
I'm so all alone with my heavy load
Just tradding on, from dusk till dawn
Searching to find my happy happy 'ome

And I know some day I'll surely reach my destination
Where we'll live into some good clean civilisation
So, set me free from captivity
And stop from dealing with partiality
'Cause every man has a right to be free
But some are wise, yet they just can see
That we are living in a world of temptation
And it seems someone cast a spell upon our nation

I know some day I'll surely reach my destination
Where we'll live into some good clean civilisation
So, set me free from captivity
And stop from dealing with bruality
Yeah, every man has a right to be free
But some are wise, yet they just can see
That we are living in a world of temptation
And it seems someone cast a spell upon our nation
- and I'm gonna break it, oh yeah, oh yeah....alright, believe me
