The world that we share
One moment in time
The threads that connect us
The lifeforce inside
A few precious memories
The choices we make
A future uncertain
The chances we take

Will we be outnumbered?
Forced to take a stand
Struggle for survival
Dare to lend a hand
Will we be outnumbered?
Forced to take a stand
Fight for our survival
Kill our fellow man

But, this is not the path that I chose...

We spoil the water
The air that we breathe
The land that sustains us
The life that it feeds
It drastically changes
The temperatures rise
The population exploding
The hole in the sky

Will we be outnumbered?
Forced to take a stand
Struggle for our survival
Dare to lend a hand
Will we be outnumbered?
Forced to take a stand
Fight for our survival
Kill our fellow man

But, this is not the path that I chose...
This is not where I chose to go
This is not the fate I chose to know
It's not down the path I chose to follow

Why?

Where do we go?

What do we do?

What did we hope to find?

The silence is loud

Fighting the crowd

We're all running out of time

Push it too far

Letting it go

Leaving it teetering on the edge

You can have faith

That all will be saved

Because there is money being made...
