"The Shine"

The night revives the memories
That for a moment seem to be real.
Apparently this thorny road takes me to the truth...

It would be sad feeling alone,
But I lost some of my life
In a desperate impulse to return
To the animal.

My conscience gives me away
As I see a light approaching.

It smashes the pain that remains
Inside my heart.

But your memory remains in my head,
Keeping away more and more the life within.
There is no happiness for me... tormented by you...

My hands're filled with your rotten blood
And my body claims to be shattered.
I wanna be melted with your filth.

I remember the shine of your eyes.
I remember how they went through the infinite,
Filled with hate,
Filled with pain,
Filled with suffering.
Your dead body shines no more,
Now it lays in the place where the other souls depart.
