Do you memorize theatrical lines that seem to lead them in Play the role with the good girl heart oh the tangled web within Who was it that lead you on that made you want to hurt me so Who are you out to forget who's forgot you long ago

Do you still feel it calling in the act tonight
do you still feel it
seems like you've done this before You make breaking hearts look so easy seem like you've done this before You've got breaking hearts all but down and you've done this, you've done this before You make stealing hearts look so easy
Where is the girl I adore
You've got breaking up all but down
I can't love a thief anymore

Do you collect the souls you've lost in the top of your dresser drawer count the number of tears displaced on lonely bedroom floors where the shape of your heart once was slowly takes the place of you will they hold the memories now of the love I though I knew

Do you still feel it
Do you still feel it
Seems like you've done this before
seems like you've done this before
and you've done this, you've done this before
You make stealing hearts look so easy
You've got breaking up all but down

and I can't love a thief anymore

You make breaking hearts look so easy
You've got breaking up all but down
You make breaking hearts look so easy
Seems like you've done this before
You've got breaking hearts all but down
You've done this, you've done this before

The most you could hope to be now just a bitter sweet memory
You make breaking hearts look so easy
