I just can't breathe without you
My heart bleeds out sorrow
Oh,
Would this scorn her of romance? I can't see your faces.
My heart turned black before I choke on the best of reasons, love's gone and never coming back
Can I frame your love in my head
I wanna wake you up to shine
I'll wake you up to shine
Don't you wish you could close your eyes
And pretend but this suffocating memory just wont end.
You could have saved us
Instead you erased us
Now this loves gone wrong
With Your precious little impulse
You fucking talk, now your left to silence
Oh,

~WHISPERS~

(The universe is filled with different views; some are
right and some are wrong.
It's hard to sort out until this screaming turns around.
Just take the wheel and kill us both, wishing some day you'll be thinking
The universe is filled with different views some are
right and some are wrong.
Take the wheel and kill us both.)

Don't you wish you could just close your eyes
And pretend that this suffocating memory dies
Just die
Just die
For you I would die!
