The more you explain to me, the less I'm sure
The more I can see, the less I want to know
I don't want your secrets, just keep them away
I'm trapped in your moment, there's no time to waste
I fill up my heart and start to move on

'Cause this time I have learnt how to say good bye, my friend
This time I won't hide in the shade of night again
This time I don't need anyone to believe in me
This time I will make sure you won't feel insecure

We look up into the moon and counting the stars
I travel around the world to find myself far
I walked down the valley, a smile on my face
Life is so easy if you know the taste
I fill up your heart and start to move on

'Cause this time I have learnt how to say good bye, my
friend
This time I won't hide in the shade of night again
This time I don't need anyone to believe in me
This time I will make sure you won't feel insecure

This time I will make sure you won't feel it, insecure
This time you come with me
We keep falling
And on, and on, and on, and on, and on, and on, and on...

'Cause this time I have learnt how to say good bye, my
friend
This time I won't hide in the shade of night again
This time I don't need anyone to believe in me
This time I will make sure you won't feel insecure
