When you're coming down the road I hope you're here with me
When you're in the cracking blue sky I hope you're in the clouds as well as the sun
Coming back to her and I'm gone
Coming back to her having gone
Began to fall
Began to fall

When you're on the carpet well I hope you'll loosen up and say
When you're on my arm I want to take another piece of somebody's heart
I want to wear them out
I want to wear them in

And even if it comes around
And even when it goes
And even if it's dying
I know it's worth something
I know it's worth something, I know

It's worth something, I know

Where does it end?
Where does it end?

Even as I end
Even as I end
Even as I end
