"Close Your Eyes"

Tell me if you'll still be here tomorrow, I want to hold you til the morning where you lie. We can sleep or we can talk, we can dream or we can walk through the shadows and the secrets of your mind. Close your eyes, come to the place you know you love, close your eyes, close your eyes. Good god you know this world is dark and chilling, and preys upon those innocent inclined. You can touch me or just watch me, turn your back and you can trust me, I just hope that you can throw me for a mile. Close your eyes, come to the world you know you love, close your eyes. Make a holy higher love, close your eyes. Open your mind to what you feel. Close your eyes, to be the one you've never seen. Close your eyes
