I can feel your heart beat over and over and over again, I can see the soul in your eyes, softly, call softly now. I've got you mirrored in my mind, pictured in another world such a beautiful world. Don't let those troubles get you down, we can go anywhere. . . . we can fly, just fly away. I can feel your dreams I can touch you when you're sleeping so sound, I can swim around inside the colours and the words that you whisper now. I've got you mirrored in my mind, pictured in another world, such a beautiful world, don't let those troubles get you down, we can go anywhere, we can fly, just fly away. I had a dream and you were the main line, we touched the edge of the universe in every time. I've got you mirrored in my mind, pictured in another world, such a beautiful world, don't let those troubles get you down, we can go anywhere. . . . . we can fly, just fly away. I can feel your heartbeat over and over and over again, over and over and over again, repeat.
