

Guy Chadwick

"Wasted In Song"

Visit "Wasted In Song" on MotoLyrics.com

Your face is good, so good against the morning light. I love the way you sleep, I stayed awake all night. Oh please now, please me now, don't talk or move your hands, don't think, just listen out, our world is changing now. The sky is alive and reaching out, the stars just whisper in their clouds of white. The moon's so cold and the sun so strong, so how can I be wasted in song. You touched a brand new zone, I felt my head explode, I had the strangest view of things I never knew. I touched my toes and bent, I got what heaven sent, I shot, and ran and ran, I felt so strong, so strong. The sky's alive and reaching out, the stars just whisper in their clouds of white. The moon's so cold and the sun so strong, so how can I be wasted in song. How can you do what you don't know? How can you see what you don't sow? How can you feel when you're so low? Hold out your hands and you get no. Show me some grit, give me some tricks, show me a thing or two, your face is good, so good against the morning light. repeat chorus

Visit Guy Chadwick page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.