We both know
Where the runs where the river flows
When the sun sets while the night is cold
We both know We both know
When we smile and lie
When the truth is told
That the writings on the wall at home
We both know

Those dark clouds bring all the winter rain
Something tells me we'll be together again

At the end of the day
Tho my heart burns
I am still in love (im still in love, i am still in love with you)
As our dreams fade away and the world turns
We will meet strangers on that road
And feel like, we both know

I watch the flame
Its flickering in the wind again
Its blowing out before nature has its way
While there's love to save

We both know
That we're holding on cos we cant let go
Have to give up on the fear of being alone
Yea we both know

As night falls we lose sight in the haze
Something tells me we will be together again

We both know
That the sands of time have run on through
And tho i wish that it wasnt so
We both know

back
