now that i can see the tragedy, that's killing me i will not lie down it only happens when you're close to me, now you're too clean
for me to fuck you round every night i tune right out just for the simple fact that you are not around (you are not around) i can escape the dreams of you because i know what i have found
and if i had some sort of temporary insanity, i could shift the blame to the illness that infected me, so casually to you it's just a game
every night i tune right out just for the simple fact
that you are not around (you are not around)
have found
how could you?
you'd be much better off than them.
