I can see from the pale moonlight, I know my way back home.

Tragedy for a delicate sight - I'll turn your heart to stone.

Now that I've touched it I will never wash again.

Trust me on this - you will never trust again.

Don't care what I say, or care what I know.

As long as you will stay, away - (your open eyed)

Get to you at the drop of a hat - I've been away too long.

Jealousy in the shape of a body bag I drag across the lawn.

Now that I've cut you, you will never bleed again.

Well you can trust me on this - you will never trust again.

As I wait for old times...

Keep me waiting just for old times.

Don't care what I say, or care what I know.

As long as you will stay, away

Don't care what I say, or care what I know.

(Hear this declaration - a simple conversation)

As long as you will stay, away.

Nevermind, you're open eyed
