Well, I can only show you the door is open
It's your freedom of choice, whether to walk through
If you stand on the sidelines of this revolution
Then your choices might be made for you

You've got to fight
'Cause it's a fight for freedom
And your rights before they take 'em away
You've got to fight
It's your right to be told
You've go to fight, stand up and fight

The night is long but the sun will rise
The day of the golden dome
So, say your prayer and dry your eyes
Remember you're the chosen one

One night when the moon was dark
And the whole wide world was quiet
She did steel into the halls
To commit her mission silent

She used her magic and her craft
To revel the great sarcophagus
The great enchantix Isis
Arouse the foulest of Osiris

You've got to fight
'Cause it's a fight for freedom
And your rights before they take 'em away
You've got to fight
It's your right to be told
You've go to fight, stand up and fight

The night is long but the sun will rise
The day of the golden dome
So, say your prayer and dry your eyes
Remember you're the chosen one

Listen, messages are in code

Yeah, we want illumination this is another fight for freedom
This is a war for information
This is your initiation into the esoteric nation
From Babylon to the Freemasons
This is your initiation into the fight for freedom
The freedom of information this is your initiation

You've got to fight, you've got to fight
Fight for your rights

The night is long but the sun will rise
The day of the golden dome
So, say your prayer and dry your eyes
Remember you're the chosen one

Remember you're the chosen one
