are you feelin kinda lonely...hold on and remember your not the only one it wont be long before the sun shines in your life
illuminatin your world there's time to get it right what went wrong?

but its never too late to make a change
start over. and just walk away from all the pain

no matter what you do...stay true remember that this love will always be there for you...

so never forget
why you're here and what you came for
with some regrets... we all guilty - we all shameless ya feel me
no matter what ya look like...or where you came from this a family. we all under the same sun
thats real talk...

be there for you...

through the good times and the bad never forget all the good times that we had the best is yet to come if you believe in yourself... and no one else

you fight when you gotta fight... murder and kill

we murder at will here come da warlord through the war torn territory what's it all for?

what does it all mean?
where does it all end?
why cant we be friends?
this a family. we all under the same sun
thats real talk...

remember that this love will always be there for you...
