I gotta step back, back to see reality remember girls that were my destiny those feelings that were always inside of me always I thought - BAM - there was reality

My heart my insight once had a bright light forever I thought but I never know that that kinda love, onesided and not given back would break my heart, yeah and would break my back

So never again I vowed to the earth and sea to trust to rely on girls to set love free feel the thing in my heart the way it's been before but life was gonna teach me, down in N.Y.C

So my memories full of fear and agony I experienced the way when love is set free revealed by both though never said thru words but this time love failed 'cause distance sealed it

Chorus:
Think about the Real Love!

So I was back, back in the place where I started before not willing to love show feelings no more, wrong time, wrong place they said to myself, what a disgrace

'Cause then it happened, emotions continuity took it's toll prepared todays reality courage and luck on my side and inside of me R-E-A-L-I-T-Y, it's been to me

Like a dream I had as a little child with a thousand colours totally wild bleedin' into one embracing themselves brighter and more fluorescent than anything else

And now I'm back, back in my reality looking at my life, my love and feel the essence of thruth, ethereal eternity I finally found it, God I love reality!

Chorus

Real Love is found just once in life
