I carry the burden that pulls your
Wrist upon my shoulders
And this weight seems so unbearable
Your tomb is where your heart is,
I should have told her
Everything made it seem so terrible

To cry is to know that youre alive
But my river of tears has run dry
I never wanted to fool you
But a cold heart is a dead heart
And it feels like Ive been buried alive by love

If I should die before I wake
There aint no one my soul to take
If I wake before I die, rescue me with your smile

If I should die before I wake
There aint no one my soul to take
If I wake before I die, rescue me with your smile

Yesterday was the first time youre so much colder
Then you got someone insatiable
Your home is there in the darkness,
I should have told her
And embrace the fire indestructible

Well to die is to know that youre alive
And my river of blood wont run dry
I never wanted to fool you, no
But a cold heart is a dead heart
And it feels like Ive been buried alive by love

If I should die before I wake
There aint no one my soul to take
If I wake before I die, rescue me with your smile

If I should die before I wake
There aint no one my soul to take
If I wake before I die, rescue me with your smile

Oh,it seems to cry is to know that youre alive

And my river of tears has run dry
I never wanted to fool you, no
But a cold heart is a dead heart
And its dead since oh youre gone
A cold heart is a dead heart
And it feels like Ive been

If I should die before I wake
There aint no one my soul to take
If I wake before I die,
Rescue me with your smile, oh, baby

If I should die before I wake
There aint no one my soul to take
If I wake before I die, rescue me with your smile

Ive been buried alive by love
Ive been buried alive by love
Buried alive by love
Ive been buried alive by love
Ive been buried alive by love
Ive been buried alive by love
