Hear, what I'm saying
I was always true
I was never playing
When it came to you

Never good at showing
What you mean to me
This is my last chance
To set my mind at ease

And all the times you slipped
Between the cracks disguised
As something sacred
Never knowing that I wanted to

Hold you in my arms, protect you
Never let the world upset you
I'm handing my life over to you

I was always running
Searching for excuses
Not to be together

Now the chase is over
With this ring on your finger
This will be forever

And all the times you slipped
Between the cracks disguised
As something sacred
Never knowing that I wanted to

Hold you in my arms, protect you
Never let the world upset you
I'm handing my life over to you

And all the times you slipped
Between the cracks disguised
As something sacred
Never knowing that I wanted to

Hold you in my arms, protect you

Never let the world upset you
I'm handing my life over to you
