"My Eyes Are Open"

the world you pulled over my eyes finally revealed released from my illusion that you could actually be You never let me breathe smothered in the fake that you made seem true my weakness is your strength leaving me in shit kicking in my teeth finally escaping illusion enclosed inside your words

I can't decide alone you strive for our destruction but to you its perfection created for my improvement but left unwilling to let go rebuilt, individualized but still conformed to you fighting to get freedom destroying to create the obsolete my only escape is death
