Another morning a new sun rise
I'm still younning
And tired of the fight
Another day in the spot light of street
Looking so good just not feeling right
It's been too many games
Too many lies
And the logical world will just criticize
My ways as the days go slipping by
It's not easy
No not easy
Living this lie
Another night that the dreams I can't find
My fears turn to tears they slip by my side
He tries to reassure me
Tells me he adours me
And I wonder if he knows me
Or the girl by my side
It's been too many games
Too many lies n th logical world will just criticize
My ways as the days go slipping by
It's not easy
Living this lie
