When you both lied, you both tried
To make your own right
You both tried to crucify me
Trying to keep me out of sight

Now it's for real
I've been stolen from my own sense
If I had your mouth, if I was so loud
I wouldn't lose my own friends

I know how you can change the truth
I know how you can sell a lie
I know how you can feel no pain
I know how you are skin dry

Who do you believe?
Who do you believe?
Who do you believe?

Now it's for real
I've been stolen from my own sense
If I had your mouth, if I was so loud
I wouldn't lose my own friends

Who do you believe?
Who's telling the truth?
Who do you believe?
Who's telling the truth?

Who do you believe?
Who do you believe?
Who do you believe?
Who do you believe?
Who do you believe?
