Happily ever after

You're sitting by the angel fountain
Do you want to share my blanked I ask you
Hoping for a positive answer
You smile and slowly walk towards me

As you come closer
I notice the unique colour of your eyes
A perfect blend of dark blue
And some king of yellow
But they don't really match your shirt

We could live happily
Ever after
We could live happily
Ever after

You sit down close to me enough
For me to observe that you smell like honey
And I really like honey
Not as much as vanilla though

We talk in the sun for hours
And I tell you, you listen like a girl
You smile and understand that it's a compliment
I like you

We could live happily
Ever after
We could live happily
Ever after

Before you leave you write your number
On a dirty paper cup
I walk home sunburnt in my face
Holding that paper cup next to my heart

We could live happily
Ever after
We could live happily

Ever after
