Every Time I Look in Your Eyes - Hal Ketchum

My life was going nowhere - Turned around & you were there

Drying my eyes

'Been called a fool and then some - 'Played the part for so long

I must have been blind.

You said, "Don't be afraid. Just let go - and fly...."

That's when my heart started playing with my head

My inner voice kicks me out of bed

But you should know how I feel inside - Oh, every time I look in your eyes.

'Stopped going through the motions - Started showing more emotion

For the long ride

And you said, "If you want it, come and get it, so we don't both regret it

For a lifetime."

And I thought, Why should I be afraid? I'll just let go - and fly.

There goes my heart - playing with my head

My inner voice - kicks me out of bed

But you should know how I feel inside - Oh every time I look in your eyes.

So why should I be afraid? - I'll just let go - and fly.

There goes my heart playing with my head

My inner voice kicks me out of bed

But you should know how I feel inside - Oh, every time I look in your eyes.

Every time I look in your eyes

Something happens to me baby

In your eyes

'Stopped going through the motions - Started showing

more emotion
When I looked in your eyes
I looked in your eyes
I see it all before me I see it in your eyes
