

Hal Ketchum "The Unforgiven"

Visit "The Unforgiven" on MotoLyrics.com

Pistol in my pocket, whiskey on my face
I guess this time the devil sent the bottle in his place
Well, I lived to see the morning's sun
Well, I make my way among the unforgiven

Things get good and crazy once the bottle takes my hand
I get to run in sideways like a snake across the sand
Gliding on straight into the morning sun, yeah
As I make my way among the unforgiven

You may pity me, you may mark my time
You may even understand
How nobility and love go blind
Once the bottle owns the man

You may pity me, yeah, you may mark my time
You may even understand
How nobility and love go blind
Once the bottle owns the man

I got a funny feeling, I have been this way before
Trouble on my shoulder, temptation at my door
Win or lose, still I fly straight towards the sun
Straight towards the sun

As I make my way among the unforgiven
As I make my way among the unforgiven

Visit Hal Ketchum page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.