I'm tired of all these questions
You leaving me thinking you're teaching me a lesson
I'm tired of all these games
Of being wrong and feeling ashamed

Well, I'm tired of being angry over you and me
What you say I'm supposed to be
I thought you fell in love with who I was

And I'm tired of what I did or what I didn't do
What you say I put you through
I'll never be good enough

And I feel like this old heart of mine
Has been raked through the fire
Now baby, I'm tired

I'm tired, I'm tired of trying
I wanna close my eyes and rest a while
I'm tired of all these tears
Sometimes I think it's best if I just disappear

Well, I'm tired of being angry over you and me
What you say I'm supposed to be
I thought you fell in love with who I was

And I'm tired of what I did or what I didn't do
What you say I put you through
I'll never be good enough

And I feel like this old heart of mine
Has been raked through the fire
Now baby, I'm tired

I'm tired of always being alone
And walking these halls
Just knowing you're home
And holding on to let it go

Now I'm tired of being angry over you and me
What you say I'm supposed to be
I thought you fell in love with who I was

And I'm tired of what I did or what I didn't do
What you say I put you through
I'll never be good enough

And I feel like this old heart of mine
Has been raked through the fire
Now baby, I'm tired

And I feel like this old heart of mine
Has been raked through the fire
I'm tired, now baby, I'm
