Can't you hear them, baby?
Hear them, baby

I thought that I'd never see you again
Like all the good things, it had come to an end
But tonight out of nowhere, you appeared like a dream
It's like no time apart is a sweet feeling

I hear soul violins when you walk through the door
Love all over again, even more than before
Sweet soul violins as we move through the room
Now you're here in my arms, holding on, kissing you

Sometimes I wonder if you were through with me
'Cos the whole party ended, that's all history
How could we be so wrong when something is so right?
I've got proof from the vision of you here tonight

I hear soul violins when you walk through the door
Love all over again, even more than before
Sweet soul violin as we move through the room
Now you're here in my arms, holding on, kissing you

Baby, my sweet, sweet soul violin
In a sweet, sweet sound

The way we parted was something to see
I'd never treat love like you've treated me
Only took one look to bring my heart around
I'm floating in my mind
I heard that sweet sound pull me down

Rush in, rush in, pull me down
Rush in, rush in, like I'm dreaming
Rush in, rush in, just like I'm dreaming

I hear soul violins when you walk through the door
Love all over again, even more than before
Sweet soul violins as we move through the room
Now you're here in my arms, holding on, kissing you

I hear soul violins when you walk through the door

Love all over again, even more than before
Sweet soul violins as we move through the room
Now you're here in my arms, holding on, kissing you

I hear soul violins when you walk through the door
Love all over again, even more than before
Sweet soul as we move through the room
Now you're here in my arms, holding on, kissing you
I hear soul violins when you walk through the door
