"Language Barrier"

I say that He's the son of God,
you say He's just a man...
I say that He died for you,
you say you just can't understand.
You tell me it's just a fairy tale,
I say He's comin' soon...
You say death is final,
I point to the empty tomb.

There's a Language Barrier,
Who will be the carrier
To tell the world and make them understand?
There's a Language Barrier, will you be the carrier?

To bridge the gap between God and man.

I say that He is Creator, you say He's just the Man upstairs...
I say pray in every instance, you say it's luck that makes life fair.
You say a child died yesterday,
I say there's a soul in every man...

There's a Language Barrier,
Who will be the carrier
To tell the world and make them understand?
There's a Language Barrier, will you be the carrier?

You wonder if it's possible, I say faith will show you the way...
You say the time's not right,
I say today is the day!
