I'm standing on the hilltop when the hours go passing by I'm staring at a point where all the mountains meet the sky
The sun is shining high above but fear is all around Something makes me restless and my heart begins to pound

Black cloud gather, silent wind blows, but it makes no sound
I see the storm is getting closer, something shakes the ground
The silence's dead now, it is gone, there's left no place to hide
The power's breaking loose and I can't stop losing my mind

The power's breaking loose Lightnings through the air
The power's breaking loose
Thunder' everywhere
The power's breaking loose
Fear in the twilight
The power's breaking loose
I'm witness of the mighty forces fight

Raindrops - just like million nails - are piercing through the air
The wind is taking everything leaving only despair
The raging chaos discreates, it's running through the land
I'm running for my life I'm just a fistful of sand

The devil's flying on on wings of death Taking our last breath
We're small creatures, we cannot fight
The nature's got the might
