

Hammer Bros

"Legion"

Visit "Legion" on MotoLyrics.com

And I say down with the empire as if you fucking cared.
For all the days I fucking bled, the wine spilled on the table. And you say I am nothing, and this I tell you I'm no one. My son, this is a revolution. We are legion!
Casting stones on a dying day. The setting sun, such an honest reminder of how we throw our time away killing a sound in search for an answer. Every minute we've spent killing time gets me through another day.
Burning bridges on the coldest of nights wishing I could get over you. We have given this solace up to a whore! Put your faith in a God who only worships himself. "Oh what fools these mortals be." I got no time for this passive resistance, this time we've got you all figured out. This is the only way, like the salt in my wounds. For the lost and lonely... I am the only God!
And I say down with the empire!

Visit Hammer Bros page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.