Act like you care but think for yourself. You turned your back on me but I got you figured out. Fucked in the head but chained by the dick. You got exactly what you wanted and it makes me sick. You're wasting your time kicking your friends, just to save face because we pose a threat to your plans. Hating yourself has never been so fucking swell. Tell me how my life sucks. Tell me, how does it feel? You wrote the book on everyone else. You're such a scholar in us yet such a failure on yourself. Times are changing and you're no longer in step. I got a plan to make this right, I got it all figured out. Maybe this is what you want. Maybe I should explain? No way! Yeah, this is it! For once in my life I feel safe and secure. Passing my days with friends who won't quit. People I'd die for. They'll never know how much they've done and how much they've moved me. Yeah, this is it! This is my all! I get a kick out of you. You gotta move it along or you'll get caught in the past. You've gotta live each day like it's your fucking last. You gotta make ends meet, stick like glue. I'm giving all that I got from the harmless and true... 302!
