With no intentions was this for you nor directed from the start. You have the right to say what's on your mind and walk away from anything.

This is the last time I'll take this from anyone again

I'm sorry that I'm leaving, but I'll take you there with me. I'll take you in with open arms, we'll face direction to the stars, and then float away.

I've found another way to love you even if we are apart. I found the nerve to break through all the walls to get to you to see this through.

This is the last time I'll take this from anyone again

I'm sorry that I'm leaving, but I'll take you there with me. I'll take you in with open arms, we'll face direction to the stars, and then float away.

I saved your life for the last time. Walk the plank. I'm walking right behind you. I'll meet you at the bottom of the ocean soon.

I'm sorry that I'm leaving, but I'll take you there with me. I'll take you in with open arms, we'll face direction to the stars, and then float away.
