You crashed a private disco
To find your next electric doll
We danced in San Francisco's sun
A giant disco ball

I thought you were my dj
But you spun out of control
And now you can't broadcast your lies
Over a dead radio

'Cause I'm a superhero made of kryptonite
Invincible to all the wrong you say is right
Don't make excuses
'Cause now they're all useless
I can see right through you
When you're spinnin' lies

You thought I was your dancer
Your heartbeat was my drum
You dressed up as the answer
To my life when I was numb

I thought you were my dj
But you played games instead of soul
But you can't broadcast your lies
Over a dead radio
'Cause I'm a superhero made of kryptonite
Invincible to all the wrong you say is right
Don't make excuses
'Cause now they're all useless
I can see right through you
When you're spinnin' lies

I couldn't change you
If I really tried to
Not that I would want to
'Cause you'll always be
Just the static on my radio
I can't really tune you
Used to be my hero
Now you're just a zero

'Cause I'm a superhero made of kryptonite
Invincible to all the wrong you say is right
Don't make excuses
'Cause now they're all useless
I can see right through you
I can see right through you
When you're spinnin' lies
