Maybe I should write a song for everytime
You wake at night to say your heart belongs with mine,
Even though sleeping feels like escaping
Reality that can be cruel into dreams so beautiful.

I tried guitar to write a song
I tried to sing but it was wrong
Though every word I sang is true
Every breath I took was blue
And when I lost you then I knew
My guitar and song are you

Sometimes we'd fight and little words were oversaid,
And no one's right, if nothing's won when words would end.

That's when the silence can sometimes salvage
Memories so magical more than dreams so beautiful.

I tried guitar to write a song
I tried to sing but it was wrong
Though every word I sang is true
Every breath I took was blue
And when I lost you then I knew
My guitar and song are you

All those words that I can't say
'Cause what I say won't be enough
All those words that I can't sing
'Cause what I sing won't be enough

I tried guitar to write a song
I tried to sing but it was wrong
Though every word I sang is true
Every breath I took was blue
And when I lost you then I knew
My guitar and song are you
My song is you
My song is you
