You kept me awake last night thought about you till broad daylight Though you're gone you're never out of sight you kept me awake last night
Do you expect a poor heart to last with nothing but a colder past
If you ask me this just ain't right you kept me awake last night

I was fooling myself by going to bed Cause I saw your face in the book that I've read I hugged my pillow and whispered sleep tight but you kept me awake last night [steel]
I was fooling myself...
