(Marijohn Wilkin)

After the party is over after the final goodbye
When you know he no longer wants you and your last tear has been cried You'll need someone to turn to remember I've been here all alone
That my love replaced the emptiness and filled the space after the hurt is gone.

--- Instrumental ---

When the last heartache has ended when there's no more emotion to feel Then comes that long lonely feeling and only the emptiness is real
When you realize there's nothing inside you to give you the will to go on
That my love replaced the emptiness and filled the
space after the hurt is gone.
