(Ann Prince)

The best part of loving you is over and done
And the worst part of loving you has only begun.

The best part of loving you while seeing you here
And feeling tender magic each time you were near
The best part of loving you was knowing you were mine
And childishly believing you'd be mine all the mine.

The best part of loving you while seeing you here
And feeling tender magic each time you were near
The best part of loving you was knowing you were mine
And childishly believing you'd be mine all the mine.

The worst part of loving you was seeing you grow cold
And knowing there was someone else you wanted to hold
The worst part of loving you is now under way
I watched you walk into the arms of your new love today.

The best part of loving you while seeing you here
And feeling tender magic each time you were near
The best part of loving you was knowing you were mine
And childishly believing you'd be mine all the mine...
