How many arms have held you and hated to let you go How many how many I wonder but I really don't want to know

How many lips have kissed you and set your soul aglow How many how many I wonder but I really don't want to

So always make me wonder always make me guess

And even if I ask you darling don't confess

Just let it remain me your secret but darling I love you so

No wonder no wonder I wonder no I really don't want to know

So always make me wonder...
