

Hank Snow

"She Was Happy Till She Met You"

Visit "She Was Happy Till She Met You" on MotoLyrics.com

On a bright and sunny day when a young wife ran away
From a husband who had filled her heart with pain
On the table laid a note these simple words she wrote
Goodbye I hope we'll never meet again.

To her mother she returned for her old home she had yearned
For all the love she had for him had fled
But he sought her out at last with her partners from the past
But her mother met him in the door and said.

She was happy till she met you, the fault is all your own
If she wishes to forget you please leave her alone
She has come to her old mother because there is no other
She'll be happy in her home sweet home.

--- Instrumental ---

I have come to say goodbye said the husband with a sigh
Just let me take her to my heart again
Says the mother it's too late all her love has turned to hate
So go your way your pleading heart's in vain.

She's my wife the husband cried you can't take her from my side
The love I let you part us we are wed
But the mother answered nay and sadly turned away
And once again to him she calmly said.

She was happy till she met you, the fault is all your own
If she wishes to forget you please leave her alone
She has come to her old mother because there is no
other
She'll be happy in her home sweet home...

Visit Hank Snow page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

