ANYBODY'S GIRL

Writers Hank Thompson, Billy Gray

Where there's dim lights and there's liqueur, they'll find you each night
The jukebox will be playing your favorite song tonight You're the loneliest fool that's living in your make believe world
You're a honky tonk sweetheart and anybody's girl Though you chose the life that lead you to sorrow and shame
Each shoulder that you cry on, you swear that I'm to blame
You gave up the one that loved you to live in your sorted world
You're a honky tonk sweetheart and anybody's girl
You can't say I didn't love you as you're crying in your beer
You drink to every heartache and wish that I was near

With each drink you passion surges and start your head to whirl
You're a honky tonk sweetheart and anybody's girl
I don't understand your feelings but emotions are strange things
Why you gave up the life your leading and gave up your wedding ring
You flaunt your charms and beauty and toss your pretty curls
You're a honky tonk sweetheart and anybody's girl
You're a honky tonk sweetheart and anybody's girl
