

Brooke Miller

"You Can See Everything"

Visit "You Can See Everything" on MotoLyrics.com

They'll be wondering how this all came about
And silly rumors will fly around this little town
But I don't care, I know it's in the air
How much I adore you

I've been singing about water
Without a second foot on dry ground
You make swimming so easy I'm gonna drown
In your capping blues and greens
I mean who gets to feel this way

But it's a quiet revolution in the way that you love me
You set the sky high above me
And the heart can travel given the right set of wings
You can see everything
It's a quick turn the corner back into prolific
You take the summer off jotting things down
That you hope will come back to ya
It's ain't easy when you're the only thing that's on my mind
It's the kindest storm blowing in a bigger love

We are living in the eye of what most only dream of
There is a will without the weight and here we are today
Give me something I'm not revealing
You came barreling 'round the corner silver wheeling Lit by a match of recognition and recall
It wouldn't take long to fall

Visit Brooke Miller page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.