I feel like a stranger
In this home I built for you
And I can't understand
This awful change you're going through

And lately I've been watching you
Grow colder every day
And I'd rather be gone than in your way

I'd rather be gone than in your way
I'd rather see someone else here in my place
And if I decide on leaving, my world will end today
But I'd rather be gone than in your way

I'd rather be gone than in your way
I'd rather see someone else here in my place
And if I decide on leaving, my world will end today
But I'd rather be gone than in your way
I'd rather be gone than in your way
