

Hank Williams Jr. "Just Waiting"

Visit "Just Waiting" on MotoLyrics.com

The old maid is waiting for leap year to come. The crooner is just waiting to sing. The old cow is standing by the old Bull Durham sign just waiting for the grass to turn green.

The barn flies are just waiting for an easy mark. The hitchhiker's just waiting for a ride. The life termers waiting for a prison break. The beach combers waiting for the tide.

Farmers daughter waiting for the salesman to take her into town. The city slicker's waiting for the countryboy to lay all his money down.

You know everything comes to a stand still. Nothing seems to make a turn. Worm must be waiting for the early bird. I reckon the early bird's just waiting for the worm.

Nobody wants to do nothing. Just waiting to get a finger in the pie. Waiting for a call from a big quiz show or waiting for some rich uncle to die. Everybodies waiting for something but nothing seems to turn out right, 'cause the night shifts waiting for morning and the burgler he's just waiting for night. The congregation's waiting for the preacher. The preacher is just waiting for the groom. The groom is just waiting for the June bride and the bride is waiting for June.

Sunflowers waiting for the sunshine. Violets just waiting for dew. Bees just waiting for honey and honey I'm just waiting for you!

Visit Hank Williams Jr. page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.